FOR	AGAINST
1. The proposed rule is necessary to protect the public health, safety, and the environment. 2. The proposed rule is justified by the significant health and safety risks posed by the use of the product. 3. The proposed rule is based on sound scientific principles and data. 4. The proposed rule is consistent with the intent of the relevant statute. 5. The proposed rule is the least burdensome option available to achieve the regulatory goal. 6. The proposed rule is supported by the overwhelming majority of stakeholders. 7. The proposed rule is necessary to address a clear and present danger. 8. The proposed rule is based on the best available evidence. 9. The proposed rule is consistent with the principles of transparency and accountability. 10. The proposed rule is necessary to ensure the integrity of the regulatory process.	1. The proposed rule is not necessary, as the risks are minimal and can be managed through existing regulations. 2. The proposed rule is not justified by the health and safety risks, as the benefits are outweighed by the costs. 3. The proposed rule is not based on sound scientific principles and data, as the evidence is inconclusive. 4. The proposed rule is not consistent with the intent of the relevant statute, as it goes beyond what is authorized. 5. The proposed rule is not the least burdensome option, as there are less restrictive alternatives. 6. The proposed rule is not supported by the overwhelming majority of stakeholders, as many oppose it. 7. The proposed rule is not necessary to address a clear and present danger, as the threat is overstated. 8. The proposed rule is not based on the best available evidence, as it relies on outdated information. 9. The proposed rule is not consistent with the principles of transparency and accountability, as the process was flawed. 10. The proposed rule is not necessary to ensure the integrity of the regulatory process, as it is an overreach.
